Whistle Blower Guidelines

Meaning

Whistle-blowing is an early warning when something goes / is going wrong in the organization. When someone blows the whistle, they are raising a concern about something goes/is going wrong that affects others (e.g. employees, customers, members of the public or the employer). The person blowing the whistle is usually may not be directly and personally affected. Consequently, the whistleblower rarely has a personal interest in the outcome of any investigation into the concern raised - they are simply trying to alert others and raising red flag. For this reason, the whistleblower should not be expected to prove the wrongdoing. He or she is a messenger raising a concern so that others/committee can address it.

Whistle Blower refers to an individual / group / an established system that exposes alleged or intended wrongdoing. The concern raised by whistle blower might showcase unethical behavior, actual or suspected fraud, mismanagement, violations, etc.

Whistle Blower Guidelines

The difference between Whistle Blowing & Grievance is explained herein below.

Whistle Blower:

‘Whistle-Blower’ is one who raises a concern and makes a ‘Protected Disclosure’ under this policy.

Grievance:

- When an employee complains/grieves, of being poorly treated, this poor treatment could involve a breach of an individual employment rights or bullying and the complainant is seeking redress or justice for himself/herself. The person making the complaint, therefore, has a vested interest in the outcome of the complaint and for this reason, is expected to be able to prove his/her case.

There are many complaints that can be addressed via the grievance process. Some of these complaints include but are not limited to are :

- Discrimination based on race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, national origin, age, marital status, disability, lawful political affiliation, participation in EEO (Equal Employment Opportunity) activity, participation in Union activity, etc.
- Poor treatment (e.g., lack of respect, dignity, common courtesy)
- Proposal to take disciplinary action (e.g.: suspension)
- Denial of official time
- Denial of leave
- Termination/suspension or compressed work schedule
- Sexual Harassment or Emotional Abuse (a separate committee (POSH) is set-up to look into these issues)
- A separate ‘Grievance Committee’ is set up to address these issues

Whistle Blower Guidelines

Whistle-blowing:

- A whistle-blowing concern is about a risk, malpractice or wrongdoing that affects others/Company. It could be something which adversely affects other staff, the organization itself, the customers and/or the public at large.

(A grievance, on the other hand, is a personal complaint about someone's own employment situation).
- A whistle-blowing concern is where an individual raises the issues as a witness (whereas a grievance is where the individual is a complainant).

Whistle Blower Committee :

Whistle-blower Committee is a Committee that is committed to prevent any wrongdoing or intended wrong doing vis-a-vis the company and enquire in detail against concerns raised under Whistle Blower Policy, whether the perpetrators are internal or external.
